

A weekend workshop to deepen your personal relationship with all weather.

Courting WEATHER

ANNA KEHLER is a Shamanic Practitioner with a life long connection to weather. She started her shamanic path after being called to participate in a weather practicum in 2009. She has taken shamanic courses with Nan Moss and David Corbin including the two week program and the three year program with the Foundation for Shamanic Studies and a seven year practicum on weather shamanism. Anna's other mentors include Ana Laramendi and her land healing work and Betsy Bergstrom, and her work on de-possession, curse unraveling and the Chod ceremony. She is interested in the confluence of these strands - where, weather, land and the compassionate heart meet.

MARTA SCHWARTZ-CALDERON is a Massage and CranioSacral Therapist, Reiki Master-Teacher and Shamanic Practitioner. A graduate from the Foundation for Shamanic Studies three year program facilitated by Nan Moss and David Corbin. Marta uses shamanic techniques such as soul retrieval, elemental mantras and Healing Drumwork to empower and facilitate wholeness for her clients. She believes that receptivity is key to developing a beautiful connection with Nature.

Ask if you feel called to come together in circle and explore your compassionate connection to local and global weather through shamanic journeys, group and individual meditations, and ceremony.

Discover how you view and experience weather, what weather allies are waiting to work with you, how to deepen and work with your connection to the elements of earth, air, fire, water and the ether and how to find a joyful and healing daily connection to weather. Weather is constantly changing and you will explore how to align with the weather to release blocks and create flow.
